

The 2010 Glenmoor Gathering of Significant Automobiles

Please join us on September, 19 for the Glenmoor Gathering of Significant Automobiles. This year the Glenmoor will feature the Cars of Cleveland; Peerless, White, Winton, Stearns-Knight, Templar, Chandler and Jordan along with electric cars by Rauch & Lang and Baker as well as steam cars from by White. Also featured will be the legendary Duesenberg and the cars of Italian builder Giotto Bizzarini.

Need more to do than just look at glorious car and more glorious cars? How about cooking demonstrations by Glenmoor Country Club chef Brendan Meeker, the Glenmoor Garage with automotive displays and models or the artists tent with various forms of automotive art on display and for sale. There is even a coloring contest for the children and a book signing by automotive authors. Use this link to preview this year's Glenmoor event: <http://www.glenmoorgathering.com>

This year we will again attend the indoor lunch buffet (starts at 11 a.m.) that we've enjoyed in the past. We'll probably not do the after Glenmoor dinner after all. Tickets are only $20/person, we will buy these at the gate when we arrive, lunch has been $15 in the past.

As always we'll meet at the Barnes & Noble Bookstore at 4015 Medina Road, Fairlawn, Ohio 44333 at 8:45.

Contact Rich Velardo by e-mail at: rvelardo@zoominternet.net or by phone at: 330/725-0429 to sign up for this terrific event.

THE REST OF THE STORY

In 2010 the Glenmoor Gathering will recognize not one automobile, but a group of them—"The Historic Motorcars of Cleveland"—automobiles built in Cleveland, Ohio, a city that once rivaled Detroit as a center for automobile manufacturing. Even longtime car collectors aren't aware of how many different automobiles were built in Cleveland through 1932, when all automobile production ended.

Among the Cleveland-built automobiles on display will be famous makes such as Peerless, White, Winton and Stearns-Knight as well as unique and memorable makes such as Templar, Chandler and Jordan. Two of the best-known and most popular electric automobiles were built in Cleveland—Rauch & Lang and Baker—as well as a steam car, the White. Examples of all three types of automobile power were produced in Cleveland—internal combustion, electric and steam.

A special group of a legendary American Classic—the mighty Duesenberg—will serve as a 2010 highlight. A variety of body styles built on this famous chassis will be displayed, including four from the most prolific of all Duesenberg coachbuilders, Murphy of Pasadena, California.

For those with a passion for horsepower and European design the 2010 Gathering will recognize the talents of Italian designer Giotto Bizzarrini by displaying examples of some of his finest automobile designs. Bizzarrini's 50+ year career included not only design and production of the Bizzarrini sports car but design work on the Iso Rivolta, Iso Grifo and Ferrari 250 GTO.

The 2010 Gathering will also feature Italian "Super-Bikes," such as those built by Aprilia, Benelli, Bimota, Ducati, Moto-Guzzi, and MV-Agusta from the 1960's to present.

And, there will be the usual great American and European antique and classic automobiles—plus a few surprises—that spectators have come to expect at the annual Gathering.

The Grande Salon Antique and Classic Car Auction—the first ever held on Saturday, September 18. It will be conducted by Classic Motorcar Auctions of Canton, Ohio, headed by long-time collector Bob Lichty.

Serving as honorary chairman of the 2010 Gathering will be Keith Martin, Publisher of Sports Car Market, the leading magazine chronicling collector car marketplace values.

The 2010 poster artwork will feature a unique American Classics: the one-of-a-kind 1932 Peerless Sixteen sedan prototype designed and built by Murphy Coachworks, from the collections of the Crawford Auto-Aviation Museum. The 2010 poster artist is Ken Dallison of Mississauga, Ontario. During his 50-year career, Dallison has created elegant images for many blue chip clients. A founder of the Automotive Fine Arts Society, he began his professional career in London.

During the 2010 concours, automotive art by a variety of artists will be displayed and on sale. Notable artists include Tom Hale, Alex Buchan, Tony Sikorski and Dennis Reardon. Several automotive authors will be signing their books including Kevin Wilson of Auto Week, Phil Berg, who authored Ultimate Garages and Peter Harholdt, photographer of The Art of the Muscle Car.

The 2010 weekend activities will include the Passport Transport Countryside Tour, a restoration seminar by the Crawford Auto-Aviation Museum (featuring a rare 1913 Auto-Daimler), a car collecting discussion led by Keith Martin of Sports Car Market, cocktail party and Gala dinner, cooking demonstrations, a Junior Judges' program and other family activities. A new activity for the ladies will be "A Day of Classic Beauty and Pampering" at The Spa at Glenmoor on Saturday.

Proceeds from this year's Gathering are designated for Mercy Medical Center's Emergency Department Expansion and Renovation project.
